IN TOUCH WITH YOUR FUTURE

With over 2.800 employees worldwide, Behr-Hella Thermocontrol GmbH (BHTC) is one of the leading companies in the field of climate control, thermal management and HMI for the automotive industry. BHTC covers the entire spectrum from conception to development and production of innovative solutions in the segments of operating systems, climate control devices, center information displays and integrated center stacks.

To strengthen our team in China we are looking for an

Software Engineer (m/f/d)

These are your responsibilities

- Touch Software responsibility for series development projects, acquisitions and advanced engineering projects (touch software representative)
- Close cooperation with Tampere and Lippstadt SW development team
- Support in touch system / subsystem architecture design SW design and implementation
- Supporting HW/SW integration Low-level software testing during development
- Touch system application / parameter tuning during development
- Support in system testing activities
- Developing of new SW modules e.g. to integrate new devices
- Developing of low level touch drivers

Job Requirements

- Bachelor or Master degree in Electrical Engineering or related
- Advanced computer skill, especially C language, MATLAB simulink, etc.
- Good English skill-oral & written
- Good communication skill, eager to learn, logical thinking
- Good team player

With your ideas, we change the future together. Your competence and inspiration, coupled with our very special spirit, will make you an innovative BHTC employee. Convince yourself and join us!

Please send us your application documents, stating your possible starting date, via e-mail to ling.wang@bhtc.com.

We look forward to hearing from you!

BHTC